MILITARY FORCES IN EUROPE.

The military statistics of the great European powers are particularly interesting in view of Mr. Disraeli's announcement of the approach of "the great crisis of the world"—All of them have taken measures to reorganize their army since the Franco-German war, and although the principle of general liability to military service has been introduced in all except England, Germany appears to still maintain her position as the first European military power. A writer in the Borsenzeitung, of Berlin, attributes this to the fact that with the exception of Austria, where the service in the regular army has since 1867 been three years only, the other powers keep their soldiers under the colors much longer than the Germans do, and consequently have to raise a relatively smaller number of recruits in each year. In Germany the standing army numbers 401,659 men, and the yearly levy of recruits 115,500 men. In France, where the period of active service is five years, the yearly contingent of recruits is fixed at 150,000 men, but the number actually required has only amounted for the present year—the first under the new military law—to 95,155 men, the standing army consisting of 442,000 men. The remaining 54,855 men were to be called in just a week ago, on the first of July, and will be trained in separate detachments, there being no room for them in the regular army. In Russia the period of active service is six years. The peace establishment is 730,000, or 628,000 if the irregular troops in Asia be deducted; and the number of troops who can be trained yearly is at most from 120,000 to 130,000. The standing army in Austria consists of 264,000 men, and the annual contingent of recruits is 80,000; while in Italy 60,000 recruits are taken yearly for the standing army of 158,000 men. In Germany, on the other hand, the period of active service is two-thirds of the Infantry and artillery has, without any sacrifice of military efficiency, been practically reduced to two years, and this, according to the writer in the Borsenzeitung, explains her great superiority over all other States as regards the annual contingent of recruits. Even Russia, notwithstanding her adoption of general military service, her population of 71,185,465, her standing army of 730,000 men, and her annual military budget of 114,000,000 thalers, is unable to surpass Germany in this respect, although the latter power has a population of only 41,058,000, an army of 401,659 men, and an annual military budget of 94,000,000 thalers.

A FAIR FIELD, NEIGHBOR

The Portland Press, which has thus far successfully avoided expressing its preference in the matter of the U. S. Senatorship, has been remarkably reticent on the subject since the prompt response to its inquiry for the friends of Mr. Hamlin, with the exception of spiteful little squibs indicating a special desire to manufacture hostility to that gentleman. It causes itself to become "informed" and to "understand" that Mr. Hamlin's "agents" or "henchmen" are very active in certain localities, generally naming those where we have the best reason to believe the popular sentiment largely in favor of the Senator's re-election, and that this is done more out of unfriendliness to Mr. Hamlin than a regard for the public welfare, is shown by the fact that it is never "informed" or caused to "understand" that any "agents" or "henchmen" of Mr. Perham or Mr. Washburn have appeared in any part of the State. And yet we are very sure that it is aware of quite as much—if not more—of the "henchman" business of the latter named gentleman as of the former. Did the Press ever stop to ask itself whether this one-sided political morality is exactly high toned? Is it the proper thing for a prominent journal to seek to create prejudice against one person by charging upon him that which it is fully aware is chargeable upon others whom it holds and abets by its silence? If all that it says were true, it would be hard to perceive why activity on the part of Mr. Hamlin's friends should be more reprehensible than that of the friends of other candidates, and it is utterly useless for the Press to pretend ignorance of the "active" canvassing in various parts of the State of which it has not considered to warn the public.

As it appears to us, the Press has exaggerated and misrepresented with the purpose of injuring Mr. Hamlin while tacitly encouraging any devices resorted to by his competitors. In order to do this it relies upon the public knowledge of the fact that Mr. Hamlin as Senator has had a voice in the distribution of Federal patronage, and it evidently thinks it very easy by raising the cry of "office holders" and "henchmen," to convince thoughtless people that a majority of the United States officers in the State are absent from their posts neglecting their official duties and solely engaged in promoting Mr. Hamlin's election. Without dwelling upon the absurdity of such intimations, we would suggest that our neighbor strangely seems to have forgotten—or at any rate it very carefully omits to mention the fact—that of the other Senatorial aspirants, Mr. Washburn has cultivated for eleven years with the assiduity of a not unambitious or indifferent politician, the influence of the "fattest" Federal office in the State with the largest number of retainers while Mr. Perham's candidacy is not supposed to be weakened by his employment of the appointing power of the State for three successive terms or by the missionary work which has recently been undertaken with unusual vigor among the secret lodges of the Good Templars. If the Press would sustain its lofty assumption of impartiality, it should not wink at what is passing under its own nose while making a great outcry about matters over the way. The "anything to beat Grant" experiment was tried in 1872, with a result that can hardly be encouraging to our neighbor.

For a time the stock in trade of certain journals was complaint of the silence of what they courteously styled the "Hamlin organs." They have gone into bankruptcy on that capital since this paper, published in the city of Mr. Hamlin's residence, very plainly stated a preference for our distinguished fellow-citizen, and invited a comparison of books on the organ matter, which has not yet been accepted by any of those who are so glib with their phrases. The Senatorial question is now the most prominent topic in the State and the people are fully alive to its importance. To intimate that they are incapable of guarding their own interests in a matter with which they are thoroughly familiar, or to decide their own preferences between candidates whose relative abilities, experience and qualifications are well known, is disrespectful to the popular intelligence, and to brand every expression of friendship for one candidate as the result of manipulation, while conveying the impression that others are quietly noting the evidences of spontaneous support for themselves, is not only unfair, but when accompanied by protestations of impartiality it is inexcusable.

No one connected with the Press would pretend to deny in private conversation that thousands of upright earnest Republicans, who are neither office-holders nor office-seekers, believe that the best interests of the State will be subserved by retaining Mr. Hamlin in the position which he has so acceptably filled, and yet the inference conveyed by its editorial paragraphs is that his only support is that of appointees and dependents. We are not disposed to put such a sweeping imputation upon all those who may favor other candidates, and we do not believe that a man so well known by every citizen of Maine as Hannibal Hamlin, can be seriously injured by such warfare. We are quite willing that the Press should take its own time to discover its own preferences in a matter concerning which it was recently so anxious for an expression from others, but while it is letting "'I dare not' wait upon 'I would,'" it is reasonable to ask a courteous recognition of the right of others to hold opinions. We shall be quite ready to contrast the course pursued by Mr. Hamlin throughout the whole of this canvass with that of his competitors whenever the Press desires; and in the meantime we suggest the very great propriety of fair play.

CUBAN AFFAIRS. A letter from a Cuban in New York city contains the statement that two men, who recently arrived from Havana with passports from Concha, have come with the purpose of treating with Aldama, who is the Cuban agent in New York, for the cessation of the war, the laying down of arms by the insurgents, etc. The terms are unknown, but are thought to be advantageous. The two men were former members of the patriot army, having gone to Cuba from Venezuela on the first expedition landed by the Virginius. It is believed that this movement is well known at Madrid.

The N. Y. Tribune having called Speaker Blaine a "Troglodyte" and denounced his Protection views as raising a "pre-Adamite" issue, the World pounces upon the journal which boasts that it was "founded by Horace Greeley," and says: "Had he been living now to give point and purpose to the journal which he founded, this astute old Troglodyte would doubtless have recognized in the position assumed by Blaine the opportunity of putting the Tribune once more into the actual line of political battle." As things are now it thinks Mr. Blaine has sounded the key note of the great fight of the century, in which the Tribune "will be heard of neither on the one side nor on the other." That was rather a hot shot.

THE BEECHER-TILTON SCANDAL.

IMPORTANT, IF TRUE—THE MOUNTAIN PROVING A MOLE-HILL.

In the Beecher Tilton scandal, Beecher's action in soliciting an investigation of the charges made by Tilton, has had the effect to put the newspapers on the alert for the latest developments, and reporters are scouring the city in search of information. A New York despatch to the Boston Journal gives the following statement of a gentleman said to be authority on the subject.

MRS. TILTON'S STORY

It is stated that Mrs. Tilton has already been before the committee of investigation relative to the charges preferred against Mr. Beecher by her husband, and has denied, in the most positive manner, that there ever was the slightest impropriety in the conduct of Mr. Beecher toward her. The reason assigned by Mrs. Tilton for the strange conduct of her husband is that when his intimacy with Mrs. Woodhull, was at its height, she called upon Mr. Beecher as her pastor, and asked him for his advice. Her feelings had been terribly outraged in consequence of her husband running after strange women, and publicly announcing that he had become a convert to the doctrine of free love. It was at that time that Mrs. Tilton asked Mr. Beecher for his advice, and, according to her statement, he advised her to leave her husband.

With the lapse of time T. T.'s free-love fever cooled and he learned of the advice Mr. Beecher had given to his wife, and to that circumstance all the present trouble and mystery are due. Mrs. Tilton is unable to assign any other reason for her husband's conduct, as she denies ever having told anything which would lead him or anybody else to suppose that Mr. Beecher had treated or attempted to treat her improperly.

TILTON REPORTED INSANE.

Theodore Tilton was invited to meet the committee last evening, for the purpose of telling his side of the story. Many of Mr. Tilton's friends and acquaintances are of opinion that ever since becoming acquainted and interested in Mrs. Woodhull, and other persons of like character, his mind has been in an unsettled condition, and insanity, said to be hereditary in his family, is gradually developing itself. They are confident he will entirely break down should he ever appear before the committee, and as a proof that insanity is hereditary in the Tilton family, it is alleged that Theodore's brother was for a long time an inmate of the Kings County Asylum at Flatbush.

Another report says Tilton appeared before the Committee Saturday night and on being asked to tell all he knew, would only say that he could tell some things greatly to Mr. Beecher's injury but declined to speak more explicitly than he had.

RENOMINATION OF GENERAL HERSEY. It is with great pleasure that we announce the renomination of Hon. S. F. Hersey for Member of Congress from the Fourth Congressional District, at the Convention in Bangor, on Tuesday of last week. The fears that have been felt that Gen. Hersey's ill health would prevent his being again a candidate, are happily not realized, and the Republicans of this District will have the opportunity to again manifest their confidence in the man they so well know and honor.

We have no doubt he will be re-elected by a larger majority than any member of Congress has ever had in this District, and we trust that a complete restoration to health will enable him to meet and perform his Congressional duties in a manner satisfactory to his constituents as well as to himself. —Presque Isle Sunrise.

THE SAVINGS BANK ACTS. In reply to inquiries as to the exact provisions of the acts relating to savings banks passed at the last session of Congress, we publish the texts as follows

An act for the relief of Savings Institutions having no capital stock, and doing business solely for the benefit of depositors

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That no further collection of internal revenue taxes shall be made on the earnings of Savings Banks or Institutions for Savings, having no capital stock and doing no other business than receiving deposits to be loaned or invested for the sole benefit of the parties making such deposits, without profit or compensation to the association or company, whether the earnings of the same have been or may hereafter be divided annually, semi-annually, or at other periods.

Approved June 22, 1874

This act is understood to relieve savings banks from a tax on surplus or contingent fund, claimed for the period from 1866 to 1871, and exempting them from such tax in the future.

The other act was passed by Congress and sent to the President June 6th, and is published in the laws with a note by the State Department that not having been returned to Congress by the Executive within the time prescribed by the Constitution the act has become a law without his approval. The act is as follows

An act explanatory of the act of June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and sixty four

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That all deposits made in institutions now existing which do business only as savings banks, and are recognized as such by the laws of their respective States, or by Congress, are hereby declared to be exempt from taxation the same as deposits in savings institutions having no capital although they have a capital stock or bond for the additional security of their depositors, and pay dividends thereon; and no tax shall be assessed upon the deposits made in such institutions, or collected of them on said deposits, otherwise than as herein provided: Provided, That all the profits of such savings banks, less the afore-mentioned dividends on stock not exceeding at the rate of eight per cent. per annum are divided among the depositors and that the capital stock is invested only in the same class of securities as is used for investing the deposits, and that interest at the rate of not less than four and one-half per cent. be paid in all cases to their depositors, to be made good if necessary from the capital stock.

THE DANA LIBEL CASE. A Washington special to the Boston Journal says "the Grand Jury of the District of Columbia have not yet taken final action in the Dana case, as has been stated. The Jury will sit another week. It is reported that there is a complication in the case, which renders the indictment of Dana now improbable."

POSTAL REVENUES. The books of the Third Assistant Postmaster-General have been closed for the year. The issue of stamps, envelopes and postal-cards show an increase of 13½ per cent. over the last year. Of this 8½ per cent. represent official stamps. The panic caused a very marked falling off in the sale of stamps, and it is only a short time since they reached the figures which were attained before the panic. The issues of official stamps reached $1,769,000 before the abolition of the franking privilege the department only received $700,000 for free matter, thus showing that it has been transporting over $1,000,000 more annually than it has heretofore received pay for. It is estimated that six per cent. of the gain in the issue of stamps over last year is the direct result of the abolition of the franking privilege.

IMPORTANT INVENTION IN TELEGRAPHY. A new invention in telegraphy by George B. Prescott and Thomas A. Edison, has just been successfully tested at the main office of the Western Union Company in New York city. It is a new process of multiple transmission by which two messages can be sent simultaneously in the same direction over the same wire, and other message can be dropped at any way station on the circuit. The old duplex system can be applied to the new invention, and by the combination four messages can be sent simultaneously over the same wire in opposite directions between any two terminal points. The old Morse key is used, with no duplication except as to parts of machinery. It is alleged that the invention will quadruple the usefulness of the 175,000 miles of wire now owned by the company.

The Boston Globe says "By slammering down a column of official statistics and information, we find that Republican rule in Alabama has reduced the expenditures one-fourth less than the cost of the previous Democratic administration; has paid $2,000,000 of debts of the same; suppressed the rule of thievery and assassination; removed many just causes of discontent among the people, faithfully and impartially administered the laws, and fulfilled every function of good government. So far, so good."

Advices from Japan state that the question respecting the residence of foreigners out of the treaty limits was very steadily pressed and would receive a solution very soon. It is asserted that either the Japanese Government would have to permit all foreigners to reside beyond the limits or else those who already have that privilege through the circumstances of being in Japanese employ, would be compelled to come into the treaty settlements, which would be tantamount to shutting up a number of educational establishments, besides putting a stop to the survey of mines, railroads, and the country generally, now proceeding under foreign supervision.

COLLEGE MILITARY DRILL. The Burlington Free Press says the military drill of the Vermont University students in the College Park, Tuesday forenoon, was witnessed by a large concourse of spectators, including many graduates, Gen. Stannard, Lieut Heath, United States Army, Col. T. S. Peck and other military men. Capt. Robinson, Fifth United States Artillery, the instructor in military tactics, put the young undergraduates through company drill, the manual of arms, and battalion movements, and they bore themselves with great credit, considering the short time they have been under drill. All the students but the seniors are required to drill. They carry fine breech-loading muskets, and wear a simple uniform. Gen. Stannard expressed himself much pleased with the proficiency shown by the young soldiers, and is satisfied that this department of the University must prove eventually a most popular and practical one.

There were five hundred and sixty-two deaths in New York city last week.

Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills.

These medicines have undoubtedly performed more cures of Consumption than any other remedy known to the American public. They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be injurious to the human constitution.

Other remedies advertised as cures for Consumption, probably contain opium, which is a somewhat dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patients, it must do great injury, for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which of course, must make a cure impossible.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is warranted not to contain a particle of opium. It is composed of powerful but harmless herbs, which act on the lungs, liver stomach, and blood, and thus correct all morbid secretions, and expel all the diseased matter from the body. These are the only means by which Consumption can be cured, and as Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are the only medicines which operate in this way, it is obvious they are the only genuine cure for Pulmonary Consumption. Each bottle of this invaluable medicine is accompanied by full directions.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, and at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following Wednesdays, June 10th and 24th, July 8th and 22d, and August 5th and 19th.

TOTAL LOSS, $350,000!

MASSACHUSETTS FRESHET AND SERIOUS DAMAGE BY WATER.

Boston, July 13. There was a great freshet Saturday night and Sunday in western Massachusetts, caused by the rapid rise of Westfield river. A despatch from Chester says the railroad arch bridge, the highway bridge and two dwelling houses at Middlefield switch station are gone. At Chester, Wm. Smith and shoddy mill and four highway bridges, B. W. Palmer's barn and Samuel Otis's shop are swept away, besides two railroad bridges partially destroyed. The dam of the Hampden Emery Co. at Chester was carried off and a large amount of emery ... lost.

THE FACTORY VILLAGE RESERVOIR GIVES WAY.

News continue to be received of the flood in Hampshire county, caused by the giving way of the reservoir at factory village, Middlefield, between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The reservoir was situated on Middlefield brook, which empties into the west branch of Westfield river at Middlefield switch. It covers nearly 100 acres and was built about 30 years ago by Uriah Church, the father of the present owners, who started the business carried on by his four sons. It was made by raising the main travelled road from Middlefield centre to North Becket, the hills on either side of the stream forming the sides of the reservoir. The road dam was raised ... feet for a distance of 30 or 40 rods. ... dam gave way once before it was finished, but since its completion it has been

THE FLOOD POURED DOWN

... Chester, where it did very serious damage. The waters swept over the farms, ... and roads and in several cases houses ... moved some distance. The heaviest ... at Chester is Dr. Heman A. Lucas, who ... his loss at $10,000 by the partial ... away of his emery mills. Dr. Lucas' farm of 50 acres was badly damaged, and so was the large farm of Newton Cowles. Nearly every valley resident in the vicinity of ... river has suffered by the damage to farms and gardens. The high water continued at Chester for about an hour. Had it continued longer the damage would have been much more severe. Four bridges were carried off, to replace which will cost about $10,000 and several thousand dollars will be required to repair the roads. The wires are still down beyond Chester and no definite information has been received as to loss of life at Blush Hollow, which is now thought must have been considerable.

NORTHFIELD BRIDGE ENDANGERED.

The Northfield bridge is thought to be in great danger. ... gives additional particulars of ... at Chester. About 12 years ago a ... reservoir was built about three miles ... up the stream by the Church Bros. ... was smaller than the lower one, and ... in capacity to eighty acres.

THE UPPER RESERVOIR BROKE AWAY FIRST

... half-past three, and swept over the ... reservoir with an immense volume of water, making a break of about four rods in the highway dam. The upper dam was built ... earth, and

THE WHOLE BANK SUDDENLY GAVE WAY.

Harvey Meacham was at the reservoir at the time, and hastened to warn the people at Blush Hollow. His warning and the fact ... but part of the lower dam gave way ... the loss of life, and also much less ... the damage done.

SERIOUS DAMAGE TO THE B. & A. RAILROAD.

The Boston and Albany Railroad suffer heavy. At Middlefield switch, the long ... arched stone bridge was swept away, and also a considerable length of the track, ... about two hundred feet. It will cost about $100,000 to replace this break, and will require considerable time. Between the Middlefield switch and Chester depot there are eight railroad bridges, five of which are unharmed or but slightly damaged. Of the three bridges so badly damaged as to need to be entirely rebuilt, one is of stone, and cost $40,000, the other two are those next west of Chester, one of which was to have been replaced this fall with an iron bridge. The loss on these is about $15,000. The bridge next east of Chester was damaged by the loss of one of the abutments, but will be repaired to-day, so that trains can come from Springfield to Chester.

Superintendent Russell has been on the ground all the forenoon, and work will be prosecuted on the bridges as soon as possible. Forces of men will work both ways, commencing at Chester and Middlefield, but it will be several days before the road will be passable. It will cost $15,000 to rebuild the bridges and repair the road, and the loss by the interruption of business will be very heavy, particularly as this is the college sporting week at Saratoga, and would draw many passengers over the road.

OTHER PARTICULARS.

The mills of the Church Bros. are standing, but it is reported that their new mill is partly undermined. A wool house and barn belonging to them were carried off with their contents, including some valuable carriages. Oliver Blush's old woolen mill and Wm. Blush's barn were also carried away. The barn contained a new $400 carriage. The highway between Blush Hollow and Middlefield Switch was entirely obliterated, and six bridges, two of them private and four belonging to the town were carried away.

NO LIVES REPORTED LOST.

It is not known at this time that any lives were lost, but several narrow escapes from drowning occurred. Several persons are reported missing, but it is hardly probable that they are drowned. A special despatch to the Union from Pittsfield says that in Berkshire county for years commenced Saturday evening and continued more than twenty-four. Between two and four o'clock Sunday afternoon the rain fell in floods, the culminating point of the shower being in Washington, Hinsdale and vicinity, from which the streams poured down with great violence. Ashley brook was swollen to a torrent, and the reservoir of the water works was in but it was relieved by the giving way of forty feet of the dam, which throws the water into it. The water supply of the town was suddenly cut off, but a temporary connection will be made to-day, unless, as is feared, the pipes are clogged with gravel. In Hinsdale, the Tracy or Ramage dam, and the dam of Plunkett's mill, were carried away. The roads and streets are very badly washed. Some small bridges are carried away, and many thousand dollars by the overflow and lodging. No damage is reported to the railroads except between Pittsfield and Springfield. All trains from the West are stopped there. At the Middlefield switch, two unoccupied houses, one of them new, and owned by West, Buckley & Co., paper manufacturers, were swept away, and also an old red house used as a pay office when the railroad was built. Several barns and outbuildings were also carried off at the switch, and farms and gardens badly damaged. The new woolen-mill, midway between Middlefield and Chester, owned by John West, Jr., of Pittsfield, was not injured, but both ends of his wooden dam and the head of his race-way were destroyed. His loss will be from $1000 to $2000. A tenement-house, owned by Leon Janesaux, was swept away. He was absent, and his wife, mother-in-law and children were, with considerable difficulty, persuaded to leave the house just before it went off. The village of from an almost entire destruction to the fact of there being so many stone arch bridges above that place, by which the flood was stayed for a time, accumulating in little ponds, and let down in installments on the village below. A second cause was the considerable width of the valley a mile above the village, where the waters spread out somewhat like they did in the Mill river flood.

IN THE FLORENCE MEADOWS,

at Huntington, there was but little damage done, the flood having mostly spent its force before it reached there. Some of the farms were flooded, and the water broke over the bulkhead of the Highland Manufacturing Company's mills, swept through the lower story, and did some damage to finished goods stored there. At Westfield, the next town below Huntington, the island and some low lands were flooded, but no great harm was done.

TOTAL DAMAGE, $350,000.

The total amount of damage to individuals and to the town of Chester is estimated at from $20,000 to $25,000. The latest figures indicate a total loss of $350,000.

NEW YORK CITY.

NOT SUICIDE.

New York, July 13. The post mortem in the case of Mrs. Moynihand, who, with her husband, was supposed to have committed suicide by taking paris green, shows that death was caused by Bright's disease of the kidneys. Her husband is now at Bellevue Hospital, and is not expected to live, but the doctor says that there is no evidence of poison in his case.

THE REMOVAL OF HAVEMEYER—A NEW QUESTION.

The question is now raised whether the action of the Alderman calling for the removal of the Mayor was legal, the resolutions not having been sent to the Assistant Aldermen for their concurrence. The Mayor said yesterday that he should take his time in answering the charges sent to him by the Governor, that he had done nothing but what he believed right, and would do over again, under the same circumstances; that "Tammany kicked up this muss because they don't like an administration that clears out all the thieves and gambling-houses."

TICKET AGENCIES.

Much dissatisfaction is caused by the withdrawal, by railroad companies, of tickets from the agencies that have long been established at the leading hotels in this city. Tickets, hereafter, will only be purchased at the offices of the companies, unless they reconsider their action.

KATE STODDARD MAKES A SCENE IN COURT.

District-Attorney Moore appeared before Judge Moore, to-day, in the Court of Sessions of Brooklyn, and called the attention of the Court to the act providing for the disposition of insane persons indicted for homicide. He then spoke of the case of Kate Stoddard, alias Lizzie King, indicted for the murder of Charles Goodrich, and asked that an examination as to her sanity take place before the Court. Her counsel, Messrs. Gray and Allen began to read affidavits made by schoolmates, neighbors and employers of the prisoner, when she jumped from her seat in an excited manner, and ran to the counsel, from whom she attempted to seize the papers, exclaiming, "You shan't read them; I won't submit to it. It is an insult. You are not my counsel!" It required considerable force to remove her back to her seat. Judge Moore admonished her, stating that it was out of consideration that he allowed her to be present. She retorted: "I should think I had a right to be present. I could not be in a worse place. I do not want such a 'mean man as Gray to defend me. He is not my counsel!" During the reading of the affidavits, she frequently interrupted with, "That's a lie!" "Pretty counsel, he is!" "What chance would I have before a jury with such counsel?" and similar expressions. Curry, McDonald and Choate testified to her insanity. The case will be resumed to-morrow.

WASHINGTON.

THE CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM.

New York, July 13. The Times' special from Washington says that the civil service system will not be abrogated by reason of the failure of Congress to make an appropriation for the purpose. The President declares his intention to execute the civil service laws so far as he has the power. Candidates will hereafter be obliged to visit Washington at their own expense for examination, as the chief examiner will not be able to make regular visits to the five civil service divisions, there being no appropriations to pay expenses.

CURRENCY.

The same despatch says that the West is taking up very little currency under the new law, and it is not believed that the circulation of any of the Eastern banks will be distributed before Congress meets.

GENERALITIES.

The Commissioners under the Geneva Award will meet in Washington on the 22d instant.

VICE PRESIDENT WILSON'S HEALTH—NO INTENTION OF RESIGNING.

The Commercial Advertiser says of the rumor that Vice President Wilson is about to resign: A friend of ours met Mr. Wilson at the President's table at dinner on Saturday last at Long Branch, and, again yesterday at the table of Mr. George W. Childs, also at Long Branch. He has been a guest of Mr. Childs for several days, and was looking unusually well, and was certainly in the best spirits, and of course as much astonished as any one at the stupid telegrams. He has no thought of resigning for the purpose of giving up public life. He has not been so well since 1872, as at present, and there is certainly a reasonable prospect that his life and usefulness will be spared to the close of his term of office.

NEW JERSEY.

LOSS BY THE WEEHAWKEN FIRE.

New York, July 13. It was officially reported this morning that the loss by the Weehawken oil fire will fall little short of $700,000. The total number of barrels burned is 70,000. Fifteen of the sixteen tanks were destroyed. The average cost of each was $25,000.

THE SCANDAL.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM TILTON—HE PROMISES FACTS—HIS STATEMENTS TO BE MADE UNDER OATH.

New York, July 13. Mr. Beecher's letter to his committee of six church members, requesting them to investigate his character against Mr. Tilton's allusion to an offence and apology in his Bacon letter, has elicited the following reply by Mr. Tilton:

No. 174 Livingston Street,
Brooklyn, July 13, 1874.

To the Investigating Committee:

Gentlemen—When, on Friday last, I met you at your invitation, the appointment of your committee had not then been made made known to the public. You sat in a private capacity. Moreover, one of your legal advisers had previously given me a hope that if, on my appearance before you, I would preserve concerning the worst aspects of the case, I might thereby facilitate through you such a moderate public presentation of Mr. Beecher's offence and apology as would close rather than prolong the existing scandal. I rejoiced in this hope, and promptly reciprocated the kindly feeling which was reported to me as shared by you all toward myself and family. Accordingly, when my brief statement was in substance the two following points: First that my letter to Dr. Bacon was written not as an act of aggression, but of self-defense, arising as therein set forth, from great and grievous provocation by your pastor, your church, the Brooklyn Council and the ex-Moderator's criticisms of my supposed conduct, all uniting and to inflict upon me an unjust punishment for acts done by another; and, second, that having by that letter defended myself so far as I thought the occasion required me to carry my reply, I felt unwilling to proceed further against Mr. Beecher without further public provocation or other necessity. Such a necessity is now laid upon me by Mr. Beecher himself in the publication of a direct request by him, to you, to inquire officially into his character as affected by his offence and apology to which I referred. He thus offers to me

A JUDICIOUS RETICENCE

I MET YOU IN CONFIDENCE,

TO DEFAME ME BEFORE THE WORLD

A DIRECT CHALLENGE

not only before your committee, but before the public, which I hereby accept. I therefore give you notice that I shall propose a full and detailed statement in accordance with the terms of your committee's invitation, so as to furnish such facts as are within my knowledge touching matters which compromise the character of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. I shall be ready to lay this before you within a week or ten days, or as soon thereafter as I shall find myself able to set the numerous facts and evidences in such strict array as that I can cover them each and all, with sworn before a magistrate. I await the appointment by you of a duty mutually convenient for my presentation of this statement in person before your committee. Meanwhile I shall make my present note to you public, because Mr. Beecher's letter, to which this is a preliminary response, has been made public by him. With great respect,

I am truly yours,
THEODORE TILTON.

—Poor weather for haying, lately.

—One intoxicated victim in the police station last night.

—Scarlet fever prevails in Orland to a considerable extent.

—No patents were issued to Maine inventors for the week ending June 23.

—Thick, foggy, damp, sticky, muggy and altogether uncomfortable weather, last night.

—It is rumored that the dilapidated Kenduskeag bridge is to be replaced by an iron one.

—Dr. Trussell announces elsewhere that he is introducing his medicated dentifrice in this city.

—Potatoes are a drag in this market, and most now brought to town are stored to await better prices.

—If the weather permits the Bangor Cornet Band will give a concert on Centre park this evening.

—The law partnership of Chapman & Donigan has been dissolved, and Mr. Chapman will continue at the office.

—The beautiful new yacht Alice, Capt. Barbour, sailed yesterday for Bar Harbor and a cruise with a party from this city.

—Messrs. B. W. Gabtil and Levi B. Patten have formed a copartnership to carry on the grocery business at 51 Pickering square.

—A meeting of the Merchants Steam Navigation Company will be held this afternoon at the office of J. F. Rawson, Esq., for election of officers, etc.

—The Tableau of Erin was exhibited to another large audience in Norombega Hall last evening, and as before the entertainment was highly successful.

—We understand that Capt. Gordon of the Bangor Light Artillery is negotiating for the uniforms of the Hersey Light Infantry for his company, as the Infantry are soon to have new regulation uniforms.

—After the jail workshop in this city is completed it is probable most of the persons sentenced to jail for a considerable term from all the eastern counties, will be sent to jail here, where they will be self-supporting.

—Mr. John M. Burke, proprietor of the Tableau of Erin, has purchased of Mr. Nichols the pony, harness and English phaeton—the team complete—which has recently attracted so much attention on the streets.

—A man named Collins, who belongs in Bradley, got employment in one of the lumber mills at Oldtown one day last week for the first time since December last, and was so unfortunate as to lose three fingers of his left hand on a saw a few hours after he commenced work.

—Certain swine prowling about Pine st. o'nights have started several quiet citizens into the belief that burglars were about; and the aforesaid citizens say the owners of the porcine marauders will be obliged to buy pork next winter if the beasts are allowed to wander much longer.

—An inebriated chap who was put in the lockup yesterday became perfectly frantic with rage and rum, and taking off every stitch of his clothing tore it all to tatters, and passed the remainder of the day in prancing about like a caged tiger and uttering howls that could be heard across the street.

—The foundation for the extension of the Bangor Foundry and Machine Co's works is completed and ready for the superstructure, which will be put up soon. The new structure when finished will add considerable room to the already large buildings, giving space for carrying on more extensive manufacturing.

—William Porter and his son Alfred are charged with attempting to outrage a young daughter of Mr. Charles Webber of Hermon on Thursday evening, while she was going home through a piece of woods in that town. She was rescued by Mr. P. O. Work of this city, who happened along just in time to save her from their clutches.

Bangor Savings Bank. At the annual meeting of the members of the Bangor Savings Bank held yesterday afternoon at their banking rooms Messrs. George W. Pickering, Albert Holton, Charles Hayward, J. S. Wheelwright and T. W. Baldwin were elected Trustees for the ensuing year. Subsequently George W Pickering was chosen President and John Patten Treasurer. It will be seen that the whole board were re-elected.

Bucksport & Bangor Railroad. We are gratified to learn that work on the Bucksport & Bangor Railroad was commenced yesterday morning in earnest, with a large crew of workmen, and forty more will come from Boston by to-day's boat. The work will now be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, with a view of its completion in October. A large quantity of iron is already on hand at Bucksport and the track will be extended as fast as the road-bed is finished up.

Handel Association Excursion. The Handel Association voted last evening to make an excursion to St. John, leaving here on a special train at 6:30 Monday morning, 27th inst., and returning so as to reach home the next evening. The excursion will be confined to members of the Association and their friends and members wishing tickets for themselves or friends should at once leave their names at F. S. Davenport's or J. A. Crowell's. The tickets for the round trip will be $3.

Sons of Temperance Installation. At a regular meeting of Holden Division, No. 11, Sons of Temperance, in Holden, Saturday evening, the following officers-elect were installed by D. G. W. P. Wm. B. Ward of East Eddington:—L. N. Shepherd, W. P.; Geo. F. Winchester, W. A.; Miss M. A. Hart R. S.; Mrs. L. A. Hart, A. R. S.; Miss M. J. Pond, F. S.; C. F. Clark, Treas.; Mrs. S. A. Winchester, Chap.; Mrs. F. A. Rowe, Con.; Fred. Rowe A. C.; John Grindle, I. S.; A. C. Hart, O. S. The Division has 127 members and is in a very flourishing condition.

Diseased Horses. Lent's New York Circus, which arrived in this city Sunday by special train from New Brunswick, left yesterday for Winterport. A number of horses connected with the show were in a shocking condition with what several horsemen pronounced farcy, and this coming to the notice of Mr. Ingalls, Secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, he at once interviewed Mr. Lent, who caused the animals to be moved from the city without delay. The disease is said to be infectious and several cases are reported where persons have died after handling horses affected by it.

Marshall Islands. Mr. Geo. A. Snow, of Brewer, has left at our office a newspaper with the above title, published at Ebon, one of the Marshall group of Islands, and sent him by his brother, Rev. B. G. Snow, who is stationed there as a missionary of the A. B. F. Missions. Following is an item from the paper which may interest our readers:—

Washburn's Last Sensation, the largest hall show travelling, appears in Norombega Hall this evening. It drew crowded houses here last year, and having been since enlarged, with new attractions added, it can hardly fail to attract a large audience tonight. Among other novel features connected with the establishment is a band of Warm Spring Indians—members of the tribe who assisted the U. S. troops in cutting up the Modocs last summer—who will exhibit their war dances, etc., on the stage. The troupe will ride through the streets to-day, leaving the Franklin House at noon, going up Harlow st. to State, State to Newbury, to Washington, to Exchange, to State, to Broad, to Front, to Main, to Hammond, to West Broadway, to Union, to Jackson, to Thomas, to Ohio, to Hammond, to Central and return to hotel.

Young Men's Crusade Club. The business meeting of the Young Men's Crusade Club in Concert Hall last evening was fully attended. Under the new constitution which was adopted at the last preceding meeting, an election of officers was held last night, and the following were chosen for the ensuing term:—President, Henry Lord; Vice Presidents, Wm. P. Hubbard and Levi B. Patten; Secretary, Geo. B. Goodale; Treasurer, O. F. Tyler; Major, Dr. H. A. Reynolds; Captain, Henry Hill; First Lieut., J. C. Collins; Second Lieut., Wm. Frazier; Color Sergeants, W. E. S. Rice and Wm. Langley. Volney Cushing was appointed Adjutant, but the appointment of the Executive and Financial Committees was deferred until the next meeting. Some other business came before the Club, but it was left unfinished until the next business meeting. A public meeting will be held in Concert Hall next Monday evening.

The State Muster. It is now settled beyond a doubt that the State Muster will be held in this city, but whether or not the time first appointed will be changed, we are unable to learn. The principal objection to holding it one week earlier has been the fear that the uniforms of the Hersey Light Infantry, Cross Guards and Belfast City Guards would not be done in season, but we learn on the best authority that they will be finished in ample time. Possibly, however, one week later than the time designated may be taken, if arrangements can be made to that effect.

The muster field will probably be on the French farm, where there is ample room for the camp and a fine parade ground. The tents will be sent before the muster and will be pitched and ready for occupancy when the troops arrive, so there will be no vexatious delay as there was last year. The several springs on the field will be put in such condition that an abundance of pure water can be obtained.

One of the most interesting features of the muster will be the prize drills. Four medals will be awarded in the name of the citizens of Bangor. One each will be given for the best drilled company, second best drilled company, best drilled soldier, and second best drilled soldier. The medals, which are to be made of gold, will be beautiful in style and finish, and well worth the time and patience necessary to secure them.

Present appearances indicate that the muster will be the most successful held for years, and Bangor may congratulate herself on being the city chosen in which to hold it.

It is but justice to gentlemen connected with the State Militia who reside in this city, to state that the letter concerning the State Muster which was published in Saturday's Commercial, was not written by any of them, and as it first appeared in the Kennebec Journal it is probable that the author is an Augusta man. All the officers in this city, without exception, disapprove of the sentiments of the letter and regret that any one should have attempted to create trouble between the Militia and the Odd Fellows.

BANGOR POLICE COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE GOODENOW.

Saturday, July 11th. State vs. Michael Murphy; drunkenness and disturbance; fined $10 and costs.

A violent thunder-storm in London, Saturday caused several fatal accidents.

DECISIONS IN LAW.

The following rescripts of opinions in cases recently decided by the Full Court have been transmitted to the Clerk:—

John Estes vs. Moses Babb et al.; action of debt on judgment; plea "nul tiel record." The case showed that the original action was brought by defendants against Estes in the District Court in 1850, and in 1851 carried by the plaintiffs to Supreme Judicial Court by demurrer; but the plaintiffs' writ was not placed on file. In 1854 the plaintiffs were nonsuited and Estes recovered judgment for his costs, which judgment was made up without any writ and recorded, the record reciting the fact that there was no writ on file. The record is held to be sufficient.

Rescript.—The jurisdiction of the Supreme Judicial Court is sufficiently shown where by the record it appears that the case was carried to the Supreme Court by demurrer from the District Court for the Eastern District and was continued several terms, and the plaintiffs became nonsuit and judgment was rendered against them for costs, though the writ is not left on file.—[Appleton, C. J.]

Brewer Brick Co. vs. Inhabitants of Brewer; action to recover back a sum of money paid under protest for tax on plaintiff's brick manufactory in Brewer, claimed by plaintiffs to have been exempted from taxation by vote of the town. The Court sustained the tax.

Rescript.—It is for the Legislature to determine what property real and personal, shall be subject to, and what shall be exempt from, taxation.

Exemption of property from taxation is the imposition of increased taxation upon the non-exempted property.

The Legislature cannot constitutionally transfer to municipal corporations the power of determining upon what property, real or personal, taxes shall and upon what they shall not be imposed.

It is essential to all just taxation that it be levied with equality and uniformity.—[Appleton, C. J.]

NEWS BREVITIES.

The New Jersey fruit crop is estimated at 600,000 bushels.

Charles Lates, a gunner on the Kearsarge when the Alabama was sunk, died suddenly in Evoran, R. I., Friday.

Official returns from all the counties but one, of Arkansas, show a majority of 71,500 for a Constitutional Convention.

A colored man and his three sons were shot at Augusta, Georgia, Saturday in an attempt to escape from the custody of a Sheriff.

General Wm. D. Hillyer, of New York, the last of General Grant's staff, died in Washington Sunday, of congestion of the lungs.

The explosion of a boiler in Bliss & Carpenter's planing mill at Pawtucket, R. I., Saturday, damaged the building and stock $10,000.

Loftus, who recently murdered his wife, in Gravesville, Wisconsin, pleaded guilty Saturday, and was sentenced to State Prison for life.

The murderer of G. R. Whittledon, was captured near Standis, Cal., Saturday, and was taken from his captors by a crowd of men and hung.

The race horse Tom Bowling will not participate in the remaining races at Long Branch, having ruptured a tendon in his fore leg, Friday.

Henry Clay Metzzer alias Mrs. H. Metzzer M. D., alias J. E. Lewis has been arrested in Hanover, Pa., for sending obscene matter through the mails.

General Sherman finds it impossible to change the location of troops to the extent he desires for sanitary and military purposes, owing to the curtailment of appropriations.

A despatch from St. Petersburg denies that the young Duke Nicholas, who took his mother's diamonds, has been sentenced to banishment, but says the case is still pending before the Emperor.

Wm. Southern, aged 27, was drowned at Lonsdale, R. I., Friday night, while bathing. He was an Englishman and was to go to Boston next day to meet his wife and two children, who sailed for this country on the 20th.

Another baby farming horror has been unearthed in East 29th street, New York. Mrs. Thorpe, the fiend who run the establishment, on being asked what the children died of answered "Croton milk and oat meal—that's all."

The race for $1,000 Saturday, on the Indianapolis Park, mile heats, was won by Gen'l Grant, best time 2:31, beating Walford, Glenoe, Gold Dust and others. Goldsmith's Maid won the $3,500 race, beating Red Cloud and Fullerton.

An examination of witnesses and papers in the Washington safe-burglary case exonerates Col. Whitley, Chief of the Secret Service, from all complicity in the robbery, which is alleged to have been committed in the interest of the Government of the District Columbia.

On the 8th inst. Timothy Kelley, an officer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York, had a quarrel with John Burns, a laborer, during which he struck Burns on the head inflicting an injury which Sunday resulted fatally. Kelley is under arrest.

The record of the Credit Mobilier case is now being prepared by the Clerk of the U. S. Court at Hartford, and will be filed with the U. S. Supreme Court before the first Monday of October. It comes up on an appeal from the Court below and will be argued at an early day in the term, perhaps before the first of December.

During the year ending July 4th, 1873, 979 cases of diptheria were reported to the New York Board of Health, and during the year ending July 4th, 1874, the number of cases reached the alarming total of 2,172. It is stated that not more than one-fifth of the number of cases are reported. The number of deaths from the disease were 1,040, and sixty per cent. of this number were children under five years of age. These figures show that one child out of every twenty has been attacked by the disease, and about one case in twelve proved fatal.

The Chicago Tribune, which in 1872 was the leading Liberal organ of the West, says of Speaker Blaine's letter:—

"It is possible that Mr. Blaine has reached the conclusion that the Republican party is a Protectionist party, and that all who are not Protectionists have gone out of it; consequently that it becomes him to publicly recognize the fact. If this be his conclusion, we think he is not far wrong. We think also that whether the Protectionists themselves appreciate the fact, their opponents do appreciate it, and will act upon it with considerable unanimity in the next Presidential election. Therefore we are not unprepared to accept Mr. Blaine's hail and farewell, not omitting, however, to thank him for the good turns he has done to the friends of revenue reform on divers and sundry occasions."

The New Cable Steamer. A correspondent sends the following explanation of the delay of the Faraday:—

The Steamship Faraday left Portsmouth on the 10th of June and went to Halifax to coal, thence to Torbay to make preparations for landing the shore end for the Nova Scotia Newfoundland section of her new Atlantic cable. While at Torbay it was found that there was a slight irregularity in the electrical tests, indicating the existence of a small flaw in the cable laid to New Hampshire. It was decided to remove the defect before returning to Portsmouth; the cable was grappled for and successfully recovered from a depth of 600 fathoms, at a place about 250 nautical miles from Torbay. The piece of cable containing the flaw was then taken on board, and after the removal of the fault the electrical tests proved the cable to be perfect. It was then joined together and consigned to the bottom of the ocean. The defect when cut out and examined proved to be a small injury to the gutta percha coil, caused by some pointed instrument which had penetrated the cable from the outside. This, as well as all operations, were greatly delayed by the dense fog, which compelled the Faraday to remain inactive for more than a fortnight after leaving Torbay.

Pierce's Rheumatic Cure

FOR RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA.

A Tried and Sure Cure.

This remedy is the result of the research of one of the proprietors who had been a great sufferer for years, and who had tried all the advertised remedies and the skill of many physicians without obtaining relief. A radical cure was obtained, and numerous similar cures effected among his friends, and acquaintances, without an exception, have induced him to put it before the public. It was got up without a thought of making it an article of merchandise, but the numerous and increasing demands for it, as its merits have become known, have induced him to advertise it for the benefit of sufferers like himself.

It is an infallible remedy, if persistently used, for those painful maladies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, as testimonials, too abundant to give in this advertisement, will show. Among these testimonials are those of Mrs. Judge Appleton, E. M. Talcott, J. M. Morrill, (foreman of Hinckley and Egery Foundry) C. M. Emery, and others of Bangor; W. J. Mitchell, (of the Eveleth House, Moosehead Lake) Alvardo R. Orcutt, of Eddington, a sufferer for fourteen years, and at times helpless, having tried the best known remedies and three skillful physicians without effect, after using seven bottles, has been restored to health, and gives his grateful testimonial.

It is an internal remedy, acting on the blood, freeing it from impurities, and imparting free and healthy action to the system. It may be used by children and those of the most delicate constitution with perfect safety. Full directions with each bottle.

Price per bottle $1.00. Liberal discount to the trade. For sale by Druggists generally.

TO A VERY HAPPY CHILD.

BY ——

Oh! little baby boy
Could I put in terse expression
One half your present joy.
Your perfect happiness,—
The oneness of the world,
Of all the birds of old.
Beside their verse of yours,
Would be but poor and cold

Oh, little baby boy,
If you could put in songs
One half the perfect joy
That to your smile belongs,
The singers of all time,
Would lay their music down,
And to your melodies
Accord the victor's crown

If one could take a draught
From that deep well of joy
And drink from every day,
Oh, little baby boy—
And if one then could be
Inspired with highest power,
To speak and sing it here,
Aye, in that very hour,
The listening world would be
Enraptured at his feet
Holding its breath to hear
A song so heavenly sweet.

MRS. ROTHELY'S ENDEARALLS

It cannot be denied that Mrs. Rothely loved splendor, and it cannot be denied that Mr Rothely knew she did, nor that many a time and oft he had been visited by a sus[illegible] that it was just possible that he had, [illegible] since, been prospered in his suit [illegible] kindly hand by the fact that he was a [illegible] and her with this splendor that she loved.

[illegible] was an unnecessary humility on Mr [illegible] part, in many respects, for he was an amiable gentleman, of education, of family, of handsome appearance and fine manners, with nearly all those qualities, appreciated which are wont to win the hearts of women—a humility that could have been [illegible] only to an inner consciousness of his unworthiness, if real and not idly Mr Rothely lov[illegible] a wife with all his heart, such as it was, and it [illegible] that she loved him back according to her [illegible] and that she did not deserve her [illegible]. But we all have a great deal [illegible] we deserve.

She was indeed a beautiful woman, quite [illegible] one would think, of anybody's affec[illegible] and particularly to be worshiped with [illegible] that to pleased her fancy. [illegible] was right that she was beautiful, she had an [illegible] of pleasure enhancing her beauty by the appliances of luxury. But aside [illegible] that, she derived from them a different [illegible] more exquisite, the pleasure [illegible] self, as of beauty afford the worshipers [illegible].

Her splendid silks gave first a satisfaction [illegible] woman's vanity, they gave next a sat[illegible] to all her sense of the beautiful in [illegible] and texture, and if she was pleased that [illegible] wells were more magnificent than Mrs. [illegible]'s were, she was also pleased to have it in her power to compete with them, and [illegible] the wealth of lustre that from creation's day had been shut into those glimps of concrete [illegible]. Mr Rothely knew that, viewed as th[illegible] was neither so satisfactory as the [illegible] to be natural as the jewels, and he [illegible] understand that his wife could care [illegible] and not for his qualities, that she [illegible] love him, indeed, in spite of his qual[illegible] and did not dream that the case being [illegible] said, it was his wife that he cared for, [illegible] that guarding [illegible] from the unseemly thoughts did not occasion [illegible] Rothely much uneasiness, as he was not [illegible] to dwell on introspective matters, he had [illegible] in vaguely in his keeping, ready it [illegible] day to be drawn upon, and for the rest, [illegible] was happy that so long as Mrs [illegible] loved splendor, the world fairly allow[illegible] him to give it to her

But Mr Rothely, walking home very late one day, had seen fearfully dejected, he had [illegible] fortune, and he were in the wilderness [illegible] and never had been remembered [illegible] and he dared not speak of them to his wife and he was thinking it would be too much bliss on earth if a man could go home and tell his wife everything, and have sympathy and comfort from her, and then he was [illegible] to himself for a sentimental fool, to [illegible] flattering after sympathy when he [illegible] and thereat he had met his wife coming down the hall stairs, a vision of splendid beauty in dress and dimpling smiles. [illegible] paused to show off the jewels, and [illegible] had left himself to be a presuming simpleton to thank sympathy and comfort from [illegible] such creature as that, and had long [illegible] to take her in his arms, and had feared to [illegible] her there, and so had smiled back as [illegible] had led, and had gone down and put [illegible] in that carriage, and returned to his lonely [illegible] and the endless figures with which [illegible] was always capturing on his endless pa[illegible] and which he now began to look over again with a groan.

Mr Rothely heard the wheels on the pave[illegible] at which his wife came back, and he was just rolling up his papers as she entered

"I saw your light, she said. "What! [illegible] up on papers, those briefs papers! Do [illegible] want to bind yourself?" And she came [illegible] and laid one arm lightly over his shoulder

Why she said it bid me to sit here and study my calculations till this hour," he said, "I [illegible] more than half got to go out in the [illegible] weather to-night, dance to this hour? [illegible] that's different" she said with a [illegible] That's pleasure. And this—

"Is pleasure, said he rising "No, it [illegible] sure"

"Why what is it, then" she ask d, coax[illegible] on the hearth rug in his

His pain he was amazed, vexed by her [illegible] way when his troubles was so great—[illegible] pain and perplexity and a sword hanging [illegible] head And he turned about and [illegible] her, hurriedly, sure that the next [illegible] she would be saying, "I do believe Mr Rothely is losing his mind!" and that in the next letter by singing the last time to [illegible] she had waltzed, yawning and going [illegible] bed.

[illegible] that Mrs Rothely was really so [illegible] as I either what it means Did I do any[illegible] to cause him? I wonder if he is dis[illegible] and it I go out without him. I am sure I had a wonderful rather be with too. I don t [illegible] if he has really lost his mind How the heck tells me anything he couldn't [illegible] somebody else's wife I wonder— Oh, [illegible] I think he could possibly be, that he [illegible] tired of me" Pshaw! what a fool I am, to [illegible] me thinking this way over a busy mag[illegible]

But when Mr Rothely went to bed, just before daybreak, after taking another turn with the papers, his wife was sleeping the sleep of [illegible], a very, dewy, lovely sleeper was she [illegible] for a moment idolatrously, before he turned away half indignantly, for all to think she could take so easily what was torment to him and then, laughing a little grimly to herself, he compared himself to the peasant who one moment prays to his little wooden image, and the next moment cuffs it roundly for not answering the prayer.

He had gone over his papers again, as was said, and had thought that he might worry through, as he called it, with the open shame of failure and disgrace of bankruptcy —for shame and disgrace it seemed to him—if he could only lay his hands on a certain sum of ready money. "A hundred thousand dollars ready money!" he was saying now to himself, and as he said it his eyes rested idly [illegible] upon the door of the little iron safe [illegible] into the wall, where his wife's jewels were kept, and which, in her fatigue, and in that carelessness which with her was half a charm, she had that night left ajar And the devil began whispering in his ear. "There is more than a hundred thousand dollars ready money there!" [illegible]

Oh yes, he knew that very well. Those great square embrasds and their alternate diamonds as large, and each one of them very much more than that some years ago, and now ceased were in fashion, and worth an added price.—And what if he did think of selling them? he said. Better men had come to a worse pass. He bought them? What if he did think of selling them now? It would be only to make himself able to buy them back—to buy better If he did sell them, he would buy better; there shouldn't be a lady of the throne covered one-half so resplendently with gems as his wife should be. Let him once idle over those cruel breakers, she should be as radiant as a whole constellation if she wished. All at once Mr. Rothely shuddered. He had, then, really and seriously been thinking of taking his wife's jewels to carry him through his difficulties!

Well, why not? he said, presently. Let him look at the thing squarely. Would his wife be more hurt or more benefitted by his doing so? What would Mrs. Rothely say to the plan? Would she, in the first place, be likely to listen to it, and would she take in case reasonable woman should? No, she wouldn't. Mrs. Rothely wasn't a reasonable person.—She was a charming woman, but, as to had thought, if not sensible, then he would have thanked Heaven that she was not. Instead of this—a reasonable woman! A lovely, experienced, fascinating being the was, but one to whom a sybarite was a Socratic. And as he remembered all her sweet and gay inconsistencies, he felt that it would be quite impossible for him to explain the thing to her. How could he tell her he would pawn them back again? She would tell him that she should never have a moment's security in them afterward. "What!" he could hear her say, "my emeralds! my beautiful pearl emeralds! Sell my jewels! It can't be that I mistake! Sell my jewels! I'm sure I" with that shrill, derisive laugh, inconsequential way of hers. "I knew you were only teasing me. My precious emeralds, indeed!"

"And he could hear himself answering, "Indeed I am not jesting. I meant what I said."

"Meant what you said!" he was sure she would reply. "Meant that you must sell my emeralds! Why don't you sell the house?"

"Because real estate is low," with literal persistency, heedless of the intended sarcasm, "and the house would not bring a third as much as the jewels. And my homes, my reverence— I—I have seen the fabric of a fortune it has taken years to build fall in a day!" Not that out of an imaginary conversation, never taking place, Mr. Rothely would have been capable of using the least fine language.

"And fallen so low," she cries, "that you must pledge your wife's trinkets!—Low to low that we are in the same plight as those miserable creatures who are found with pawn tickets on them! Oh, take them! take the wretched things!" she cries with lofty scorn, I will never touch them again! Oh, why was I ever born? What have I ever done, to be disgraced so? I'm sure I never expected this when I was married. Don't touch me! don't speak to me! I never dreamed of such an outrage!" And by that time his thinking had thrown Mr Rothely into a wet chill, and he sat up in bed, sure that he never could tell his circumstances to Mrs. Rothely, and ask her for the help her jewels could afford.

There she was now, sweetly sleeping, in the moonlight that filtered between the curtains and silvered all the room, her dark lashes resting on her rosy cheek, a smile parting her lips—as she remembered, perhaps some of the fainities whispered by her last partner at the ball. He felt a glow of resentment taking the place of the cold chill of the moment before and he suddenly said to himself that he would not have her jewels, and she should never be the wiser. He could not, he would not be thought humiliate himself before her by craving such a favor. What power he had, what supremacy, he felt to be due to his granting favors, not begging them. He would not yield the position, he would never place himself in such an abject light! Not while this other course was open, for what was there easier than now, while she was wrapped away in the soft nimbus of sleep, to steal across the moonlighted room, secure the casket, to lock the safe, and keep the key—that she might fancy she had mislaid it—till he could put the casket back again with every splendid diamond, with every cool, rich emerald, in it replaced by a faithful duplicate crystals as closely like those could set there, after which the key could easily be found again? The law would take them if he didn't, and would never give them back again, as he would

(To be Concluded.)

HAY, FINE AND COARSE.—Producers are sometimes puzzled to know whjicity buyers generally ask for coarse, well matured hay in pref rence to the more tender and in reality more nutritious kinds. The Lane Rural Journal thus enlightens them: "City men feed and thus enlightens them: "City men feed hay for a different purpose than farmers. The farmer feeds it for its nutriment and as a principal food, while the city man regards grass as the cheapest food, and only gives sufficient hay to make bulk in the stomach, and for the purpose of having the animal feel satisfied. Timothy serves this purpose better than the early-cut and fine grasses. They do not digest such hay as will tempt the horses to eat too much of it. Straw would answer this purpose if cut and mixed with the grain, but is not relished. Poor farmers should be content with this practice of the city customer, for it enables them to sell their poorest hay for the best price, and to retain the best quality for home consumption."

The other day an ailpose citizen strolled up to a couple of acquaintances who were talking, on a corner, and one of them saluted them with: "Why, you are growing bigger every day I have heard of a man being fatter than a fool, but I believe you are fatter than two fools." "Well, I guess I would outweigh both of you," replied old round, quietly, as he walked along.

A Sunday school teacher was giving a lesson on Ruth She wanted to bring out the kindness of Boaz in commanding the reapers to drop larger handfuls of wheat. "Now, children, she said, "Boaz did more than [illegible] for Ruth, can you tell me what it was?" "Married her!" said one of the boys

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA

New Revised Edition.

A work rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Twenty volumes now ready. Illustrated with several thousand Engravings and Maps

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the country, and the numerous additions which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have rendered the editors and publishers desirous to submit it to such revision as would make a new edition entitled THE AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in all branches of knowledge has been of the most remarkable and important character. The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the consequent development of the resources of the country, the mechanical and useful arts and the conveniences and refinements of life, have been unprecedented. Many inventions have occurred involving national changes of paramount importance. The war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has called forth a new interest in military science and industrial activity has been consequently. Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made, especially in the interior of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the consequent development of the resources of the country, the mechanical and useful arts and the conveniences and refinements of life, have been unprecedented. Many inventions have occurred involving national changes of paramount importance. The war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has called forth a new interest in military science and industrial activity has been consequently. Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made, especially in the interior of Africa.

In preparing the present edition, for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an account of the present state of the various sciences, arts, and events of importance which have occurred in modern times, or even since the publication of the last volume of the original work. In this part, as well as to give a more complete record of the progress of the world in general events.

Since the original stereotyped plates have been used, [illegible] have been printed, or new type altogether [illegible] the Cyclopædia, with the exception of the first [illegible] as specified, but with a far greater percentage of [illegible] and with such improvements in its composition [illegible] have appeared to the editors essential to [illegible]

The additions which are introduced, for the first time [illegible] edition, have been added not for the sake of [illegible] but to give greater availability and force to [illegible] of the general average system of [illegible] and impart the most [illegible] and [illegible] as well as the various processes of mechanics and [illegible] manufactures.
